Over 72 million children are not in primary school and 759 million illiterate adults lack the awareness necessary to improve both their living conditions and those of their children. This leads to a life of trial and tribulation for future generations who are brought up in this vicious cycle. Child Care Homes for Rohingya Refugees

Rohingya, a minority population living in the South-Western Rakhine state of Myanmar, have been facing systematic persecution for decades. In 2017, they experienced the most barbaric atrocities which killed thousands through burned home, violation of women, looting of belongings and much more. In order to find safety, hundreds of thousands of terrified Rohingya refugees began flooding onto the beaches and paddy fields of southern Bangladesh. According to a study of UNICEF, about 50% of the refugees were children.

Helping Hand Child Care Homes have been serving 1000 Rohingya children by providing education, food and extra curricular facilities. All of these children live with their families in Bangladesh refugee camps.
